Mt. Sterling Boy in France Writes Interesting Letter to His Mother in This City.

Mrs. Nancy B. McCann has received a most interesting letter from her son, Bullitt, who is in the aviation training camp in France. Young McCann has been in France for nearly two years and up until recently was an ambulance driver and saw considerable hard service. We are sure this letter will be of interest to his many friends and relatives in this section. The letters follows:

"Ecote d'Aviation, September 10, 1917.
"You probably by this time have received my letter written from Paris, telling you of my enlistment in aviation for the duration of the war. The school is away down in southern France in the department of Tournaine. I wrote you soon after I reached here telling of my first flight and everything, but in case that one doesn't reach you, I will begin all over again.

"We are called about five a. m. and served with coffee and bread, sometimes chocolate in big lumps and a 'goey' kind of jelly called confiture. We then go down to the head pilot's office and, if he says its flying weather, we go to our various classes. We are usually six or seven in a class to one instructor pilot. Flying time lasts about two to three hours, depending on how advanced the class is, as it must be very calm for beginners. At first one takes short flights, only looking on with the pilot doing all of the work. The machine has double controls, one set for the pilot in order to be able to correct mistakes and indicate the proper movements. I have flown about two hundred minutes altogether, and am now putting in about fifty minutes a day. After flying we have a lecture on theories and other necessary facts one has to know. Then comes luncheon about eleven a. m. After that it is rest period for some, others go to the workshops and work under mechanics who are repairing and building planes. About three we fall in for an hour's drill and infantry instruction, for, though we are aviators, we must conduct ourselves as officers. At four we have another lecture and then comes afternoon flying which lasts as long as the weather permits, or until dark. We then have our dinner at eight or whatever hour we finish flying. I forgot to say that between our drill and lecture we had another lunch about the same as our first one in the morning. However, we cannot complain of the food, as we get milk and butter, both of which we did not get in the ambulance. So you see by nine o'clock at night we are through after a pretty full day.

"Of course every day is not like this one as we do nothing when the wind blows, it rains or a Frenchman decides he would like an afternoon in Tonas or to go preening around the field, monkeying with his machine or complaining of some fault of ours. We get frequent trips into Tours and have diversions of various sorts, for we must always keep fit when we are flying alone. I have yet about two hours to put in before I will be allowed to attempt that. We are commissioned after twenty-five hours flying. I may finish up and be sent home by Christmas as an instructor pilot or in an executive position. There are very few of us kicking about this, though everyone wants a chance at a boche plane before the war ends. It was 'manvals temps' this morning so I was up only twenty minutes. I was rather rough so my arms feel like lead. We control from a stick located on a joint so arranged that everything is controlled from it except steering. The French call it a manche a falais or some kind of broom stick. Hold on to this for a while, and one holds on to it too, though every movement must be slow, true and flexible; then when you stop your arms drop and you let them stay dropped. Contrary to opinion, however, flying is easy once you get the knack. The getting off from the ground and landing is where one must know the right thing to do, and then always do it, or it is a little 'jardin' for you with flowers, as the French pilots say. We have long hours of practice landings before we go up alone.

"There have been several smash-ups but no deaths since we came down. There is comparative safety while training and even afterwards, so you must feel assured that I am not running too much risk. I know I will come through all on top.
"I have told about all there is to tell about what I am doing at the present. Flying is the greatest sport ever one attempted. My first flight was about the greatest thing that ever happened to me. The wind blowing by you like a gale. A sudden realization that the plane is moving over the ground and you are about to actually fly. Then, before you think, you are up climbing into space and the earth like some big

WEDDING

Miss Lillian ShROUT, of Bath County and Mr. Johnson A. Young Married Saturday.

Relatives and friends here were agreeably surprised to receive the first of the week, beautifully engraved wedding cards announcing the marriage at Richmond, Ky., Saturday, of Miss Lillian ShROUT, of Bath county, to Mr. Johnson A. Young, of Boons del Toro, Panama, but formerly of this city. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton ShROUT and is one of Bath county's fairest and sweetest daughters. Possessing a sweet disposition and charming manner she has endeared herself to countless friends and the news of her marriage will be received with much interest through Central Kentucky where she has been extremely popular in society. Mr. Young, who is a son of Mrs. Maggie Young, of this city, is well liked and admired by many friends for his sterling worth. For several years he has been connected with the United Fruit Co., the largest fruit growing concern in the world, and has his headquarters at Boons del Toro. He is an excellent young man and the Advocate joins friends in extending congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for New Orleans from which point they will sail for Panama where they will make their future home.

ENGAGEMENT OF INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Hadden, of Lexington, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Naomi Anise, to Mr. Walter Rice Clinkenbeard, of Paris, Ky. The wedding will be very quietly celebrated on Wednesday afternoon, October 24, the Rev. G. E. Cameron officiating, after which the couple will leave for an Eastern trip before going to Paris to reside.

Both Mr. Clinkenbeard and Miss Hadden are well and favorably known in this city. Mr. Clinkenbeard having formerly resided here, and Miss Hadden, being closely related to the Hadden family in this county, has frequently visited here. They are both popular and deserving young people and have a host of friends in Montgomery county who will be interested to learn of their approaching marriage.

AUTO HITS POST

Meeting another machine at the intersection of Maysville and High street Sunday morning a Ford car driven by a Mr. Greene, from Morgan county, was forced to turn sharply and in so doing ran directly into a electric light pole, snapping same off at the ground and also breaking it into about twelve feet from the ground. The car was badly damaged but fortunately no one was injured. The other car was slightly damaged. Unless more attention is given to sounding the horns and driving slowly past intersections some serious accident is sure to happen, as there have been several narrow escapes lately.

NEW MANAGER FOR THIS CITY

Mr. Luther M. Redmond who has been book-keeper for the Kentucky Utilities Co., in this city for several years, has been promoted to the position of Manager of the company in this city and county, succeeding Mr. W. P. Hackett, who has been managing the local plant as well as the plant at Winchester. This change was found necessary as Winchester is growing so rapidly it requires all of Mr. Hackett's time at that place. Mr. Redmond is thoroughly familiar with the duties of his new position and will make the company an excellent man. He desires us to state that he will bend every effort toward rendering the public the best possible service and that he is ready and willing always to listen to suggestions of the patrons for the improvement of the service rendered by his company. Mr. Redmond is a local man, having been born and reared in this county and his many friends will be glad to learn of his advancement. The change will go into effect Nov. 1st. The promotion is in keeping with the policy of the company to advance local employees instead of sending in outside men.

FIRE DESTROYED STORE

Fire completely destroyed the small grocery store of Mr. James Letcher just outside the city limits Monday morning. The blaze was discovered about two o'clock in the night. Considerable damage was done to the telephone lines which ran close to the house. The cause of the fire is unknown.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE MARRIED

Miss Elizabeth Little and Mr. Webb Blevins Quietly Married Last Wednesday.

Miss Elizabeth Little, the handsome and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Little, and Mr. Webb Blevins, son of Mr. George Blevins, both of this county, surprised their friends here Wednesday when they were quietly married at the beautiful country home of the bride's parents on the Winchester pike. The ceremony was performed shortly after five o'clock by the Rev. Clyde Darsie of the Christian church. Only the families and a few friends witnessed the ceremony. Following the wedding a short informal reception was held after which the happy couple motored to Winchester where they caught a train for Cincinnati and other points of interest for a short bridal trip.

The bride is one of the most charming girls ever reared here and by her genial disposition and pleasing manner she has made herself extremely popular. Mr. Blevins has been associated with his father in farming and is respected and liked by many friends. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping on the farm of the groom's father. The Advocate extends best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life.

AN AUTOMATIC BOOKKEEPER

Four Local Banks Install New Burroughs Adding-Subtracting Machine to Keep Books.

A real mechanical marvel is the new bookkeeping machine that will soon be installed at the four banks in this city. The machine is the Burroughs Adding-Subtracting Model and will greatly simplify the work of keeping the bank's books.

One should see this Burroughs in operation to fully appreciate what a wonderful thing it is. It automatically prints dates, subtracts checks, adds deposits and computes new balances, all in one movement of the carriage across the page, and with a speed that seems incredible. That is to say, the machine not only posts figures to the ledger page, but computes balances automatically as the posting is done.

Error-Proof "Steel Brains"

And this automatic bookkeeper can't make a mistake. His "steel brains" are mathematically error-proof. Depressing the keys puts figures "into" the Burroughs. Touching a bar adds or subtracts the figures and prints them in even rows. And no matter how fast or how long you feed figures into it, the machine never gets tired, never lets errors creep in through "brain fog." It has just as lively an appetite for large numbers as for small. As a depositor you might deposit $10,000,000 tomorrow, but the machine would not have to exert itself to enter the amount, add your old balance, subtract your checks and automatically compute the correct new balance of your account. The only time it balks is when you have an overdraft. Then it warns the operator, by the simple expedient of refusing to figure any more without the "subtract" lever is held down, that your account is overdrawn, and thereupon proceeds to print a red "OD" signal opposite the amount you need to get square with the bank.

Heretofore, in posting to the ledger it was necessary for a list of checks and deposits to be entered by hand in order for the bank to properly debit and credit each customer's account. The bookkeepers had to add each list of checks mentally, also had to add all deposits and combine their total with the customer's old balance. When that was done, the total of all the checks had to be deducted from the sum of old balance and deposits to determine the new balance. With the machine all this is accomplished automatically and without any mental calculation whatever. The operator has only to depress the proper keys and touch the operating bar.

Burroughs-posted ledgers have many advantages that even a person who is not familiar with bookkeeping will recognize. As explained, all figuring is handled mechanically, the operator being obliged only to watch the amounts he is entering.

Then, in addition to the speed and economy such a method affords, there is the infallible accuracy accruing to the use of the machine. The precision with which the internal mechanism operates insures an exactitude heretofore unknown in figure work.

The adaptability of the new machine is another feature of its usefulness. It can be adjusted to an infinite number of combinations. It may be used as an ordinary adding machine, or as a straight subtracting machine. It may be used for posting to the ledger or making out depositors' statements. And figures, whether simple or complicated, are gobbled up and digested with equal

DEATH CLAIMS
MR. R. C. SCOTT

Popular Business Man and Prominent Lodge Member Called by Death Saturday.

Many were the expressions of sorrow and regret heard on the streets here Saturday when it became known that Mr. Roy C. Scott had succumbed to an illness with which he had been suffering for several months. Deceased was afflicted with a cancer and in spite of the operations of specialists and the tender loving care of his sister, Mrs. R. F. Moore, he slowly sank until the end came, Saturday morning.

Mr. Scott had been prominent in business circles here for several years, having been connected with I. F. Tabb, the local feed and coal man, and later being a partner in the Star Bakery. The writer has known him for nearly twenty years and in all this time he never heard him speak an unkind word to or against any man. "Scotty," as he was familiarly called by his legion of friends, was one for whom everyone has a kind word. Of a genial disposition and with a happy pleasant smile and greeting he numbered his friends by his acquaintances.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and also the Elks Lodge, both of which organizations attended his funeral services at the grave Sunday afternoon in Maplelawn cemetery and held under the auspices of the Masons. To his aged father, Mr. Joe C. Scott, and his sister, Mrs. R. F. Moore, and family, we tender our sincere sympathy in their sorrow.

DOGS KILL SHEEP

Mr. Grover C. Anderson had a number of sheep killed and several crippled last week by stray dogs. The farmers of the county should organize and have every stray dog or the dog on which no tax is paid destroyed. Thousands of dollars are lost every year by dogs killing sheep and it is usually done by the mongrel.

DISTRICT BOARD ACTIONS

The District Exemption Board at Lexington today granted the appeal for exemption from army service of Mr. David W. Chenault, on the grounds of being engaged in the business of agriculture, and denied the claim of Mr. Wm. M. Cockrell, who had applied for exemption on the same ground.

facility by the insatiable appetite of its mechanical "works." There is no human being who can list and add a long column of figures at the same time with speed and with absolute accuracy, but the Burroughs does it.

Can be easily investigated.
What better proof of merit can be had?

Mrs. R. M. Reynolds, 31 Richmond Ave., Mt. Sterling, says: "My kidneys were weak and inactive and I felt run down and languid. My back ached and pained and I had headaches, also. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got some from Lloyd's Drug Store. They quickly relieved all the trouble. A little member of my family had awful weak kidneys and complained of pains across the back. The child's kidneys were irregular in action, too. Doan's Kidney Pills regulated the kidneys and relieved the other symptoms of kidney trouble."

SOLDIERS TO BE SENT SOUTH

Complete arrangements have been made by the division staff at Camp Zachary Taylor for the transfer of 3,000 men to Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss. The orders received by Major General Harry C. Hale, commanding officer of the 84th division, were to send 6,000 men to Camp Shelby and 2,000 to Camp Pike at Little Rock as soon as accommodations are ready at these cantonments. Word has been received from the commanding officer at Camp Shelby that the camp is ready for half of the quota. Accordingly Major General Hale of Camp Taylor, has issued orders for the immediate transfer of 3,000 men from the 159th depot brigade. Later 3,000 more men will be sent to Camp Shelby. The quota for Camp Pike will be sent as soon as that cantonment is ready to receive the men. It is quite likely that a number of local boys will be transferred to one of these camps.

MISSING—ONE PANIC!

More than 700 distilleries in the United States went under prohibition on September 8th.

Where is the panic?

Where are the unnumbered millions of men who were to tramp the streets?

The momentous day went by without even jarring the country. The distilleries just stopped making whisky—that's all.

Today most of them are just as busy as ever making alcohol for industrial purposes and to shoot at the Kaiser instead of making alcohol to murder Americans.

In Peoria and some other places where the distilleries were actually closed and men put out of their jobs, they were snapped up so quickly by other industries that they did not even have time for a holiday.

CAPT. GEORGE GUYNEMER

Where is Capt. George Guynemer? Has the brilliant and daring young life gone out, and do his bones lie bleaching on some lonely hill or has his body furnished food for fishes? Does he lie in some nameless grave, or will he yet return to those who love him and mourn him? These are the questions that all France is asking. Scarcely more than a lad, of frail and delicate nature, in the two years of his career as an aviator his record reads like the most lurid fiction. By his own individual efforts he has brought down fifty-two enemy airplanes. No undertaking was too desperate for him to undertake. His name has been written high on the scroll of fame, and wherever the brave spirit may be, its luster will never be dimmed while earth and heaven honor the heroic soul.

To Whom it May Concern

Mr. Henry R. Prewitt last week purchased of Mr. J. Rice Crooks the latter's beautiful farm of about 120 acres on the Hinkston pike, a few miles from Mt. Mr. Prewitt's new purchase is one of the finest tracts of land in that section of the county and lies near his home place on the Maysville pike.

To the Voters of Montgomery County:

I am a candidate for Assessor of Montgomery county, subject to the voters at the coming November election. I have been nominated as the Republican standard-bearer in this race. Having been a farmer all my life, and a land owner for many years I feel that I am competent to bring to the office the capabilities that it should require. The assessment of values on lands and property under the new Tax Law of the State is now one of the most vital interest to all land owners. I promise, if elected to be fair and impartial in the discharge of the duties of the office, and to assess the properties of this county with equal justice to all, and for the best interests of the county and State. I know from experience the value of lands in every section of the county, and will discharge the duties of the office with the end in view of fixing a fair valuation upon all properties. The office of Assessor should not be one of politics, but should be one of competency. I will make the race strictly upon my merits as to competency and ability to do the work, and will not spend one dollar for a corruption fund or for the use of whisky in the race, preferring to be defeated rather than to have an office that I would have to debauch anyone to secure. If you will feel that I will make a good official, one who will do the work, I solicit and will appreciate your vote and influence. MATT FORD

EDISON, THE SILENT

For many weary months now the world has been asking itself the question, "What is Edison doing?" and as yet there has been no definite answer. We are assured in vague terms that he is perfecting some device or devices that will have powerful influence in terminating the conflict, but the months drag on and we are as much in the dark as ever. We are mysteriously informed that he has discovered or isolated or located or invented some kind of "ray" that will burn up a battleship or a town at a distance of many miles, but that "ray" has not yet illuminated our darkness. It may be that one or more of his discoveries are already in use. If so, why not let the public know? Surely the bare knowledge that our faith in him is not misplaced, could work no harm. Seriously, the American people need all the encouragement they can get in the days that are before them, and if Mr. Edison's genius is still working full time it would help us to know it.

SELLS CLARK COUNTY FARM

Mr. W. T. Swango, formerly of this county, has sold to Clayton Hisle, of Clark county, his farm of 120 acres, near Planagan Station, in Clark county, for a price said to be in the neighborhood of $140 an acre. Possession will be given March 1st. Mr. Swango's future plans have not been definitely settled.

It may be well to state the abolition of "futures" does not include the I. O. U. or other promise to pay.

A MODERN ENOCH ARDEN

The following story, which is of wide interest here, appeared in this morning's Lexington Herald:

"News of the death of Lucius Desha Stone, brought to the man's relatives in Bourbon county Tuesday, was the first information concerning him since he disappeared mysteriously from Flat Rock thirty years ago. In 1887 Stone was found missing from his farm one morning and no circumstances throwing the least light on his disappearance had ever been discovered. In a few years relatives became convinced that he was dead and discontinued their search for him. His wife later married another man and is still living in Bourbon county.

"Then about three years ago John Burrus, who owned a farm near where Stone had lived years before, while plowing in a field dug up an old skeleton. Old residents in the community remembered the disappearance of Stone and it was generally believed that he had met his death at the hands of a murderer who had burned the body and buried the bones to hide his crime.

"Soon, however, it was learned that the disappearance mystery of twenty years before was still unsolved, for James Gibson told the story of the skeleton. Twenty years ago Mr. Gibson, then a young man, was living with his brother, William Gibson and was studying medicine with a view to entering the medical profession. He borrowed a skeleton, to use in his study, from Dr. W. C. Wilkerson, of Flat Rock. After he no longer needed the skeleton, it was stored in the loft of a buggy house. Later the buggy shed was torn down and the skeleton was buried on the place. It had been forgotten by Mr. Gibson.

"The story which brought members of the family who have outlived Mr. Stone, news of where he had been, was printed in The Lexington Herald Monday. It told of the receipt of notice by Chief of Police Jere Reagan, of Lexington, from the Chief of Police at Beaumont, Texas, asking for aid in finding Jane Stone and John Goff, whom Lucius Stone, in his last illness asked to be let known of his death. He had been working at Beaumont and died there this month.

"Lucius Stone was a brother of James Stone and Mrs. Mary Goff (widow of Thomas Goff), who live near North Middletown. John Goff, referred to in the communication from Beaumont, was eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Mary Goff and has been dead for several years. May Goff, a sister of John Goff, now lives in North Middletown."

Can You Guess Her Name?

If you can guess this netresses' name hand your guess in at The Tabb Wednesday night, between 7 and 8 o'clock. A week's pass free to each of the three lucky guessers.

"Le Loup-Garou" Will Take You!

Mothers in France never tell their children that if they aren't good "the bogey man will get" them. Oh no, they say "Le Loup-Garou" will take you! And the little French kiddies hustle to bed and shut their eyes tight, or eat the hard crusts, or whatever it is that mother is trying to make them do. It was with tales of "Le Loup-Garou" that Andre, the big-hearted trapper in "The Long Trail" tried to warn his pretty little sister, Michette. Michette, however, had outgrown the Loup-Garou—but you can see the rest of this Paramount picture for yourself at The Tabb Theatre, Wednesday, Oct. 24th.

"The Long Trail" is a pleasing tale of the Canadian Northwest, starring Lou-Tellegen and Mary Fuller and produced by Famous Players. Lou-Tellegen has the unique distinction of having acted in the dual capacity of director and leading man for Sarah Bernhardt at different times. In fact, Mr. Tellegen's first appearance in this country was on the legitimate stage in support of that famous star, while her first appearance on the American screen occurred when he directed her in the Famous Players production "Queen Elizabeth." Mary Fuller is an old favorite, having gained great popularity in Edison and Universal pictures, but has been in retirement for some time, and returns to the screen in "The Long Trail." Sidney Bracy, who plays the part of Paul Graham in this picture, will be well remembered for his work in the never-to-be-forgotten "Million Dollar Mystery" serial. The cast also includes Winifred Allen, a very pretty young woman and a capable actress, who plays the part of Michette Dubois, Andre Dubois' (Lou-Tellegen) little sister, and Franklin Woodruff, who plays the part of Constable Joyce. "The Long Trail" is directed by Howell Hansel, a director of much experience and ability.

"Polly of the Circus" is Packed With Thrills.

"Polly of the Circus," an elaborate drama of circus life, the first release of the new Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, starring Mate Marsh, is to be shown at The Tabb Theatre Friday, Oct. 26th.

"Polly of the Circus" tells the story of a little circus orphan (Mate Marsh), who has been raised by Toby, the clown (Charles Eldridge). Polly is hurt in an accident and has to remain behind while the show goes on. She is taken to the home of the minister, where her presence in the house is turned into scandal by the narrow-minded village gossips. This leads to her going back to the circus, but the following spring the circus comes back to the little town, and through the intervention of a fight and a fire in the big tent, Polly and the minister find each other—and happiness.

To Be Voted On At November Election

Below will be found Senate Bill No. 23, which will be voted on at the November election and we urge the people to carefully read same in order that they may know the importance of the bill so they may vote intelligently on this important matter. We also call attention to the other articles appearing in this issue showing how the business men in this and other cities feel about this matter:

IN HOUSE

REGULAR SESSION 1916

SENATE BILL NO. 23

FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 1916

The following bill was reported from the Senate, ordered to be printed and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, viz.:

AN ACT to amend Section 201 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

That upon the concurrence of three-fifths of the members elected to each House the yeas and nays being taken thereon and entered in full in their respective journals, Section 201 of the Constitution of this State be amended so that it shall read as follows:

Section 201. No railroad, telegraph, telephone, bridge or common carrier company shall consolidate its capital stock, franchises, or property, or pool its earnings, in whole or in part, with any other railroad, telegraph, telephone, bridge or common carrier company, owning a parallel or competing line or structure, or acquire by purchase, lease or otherwise, any parallel or competing line or structure, or operate the same; nor shall any railroad company or other common carrier combine or make any contract with the owners of any vessel that leaves or makes port in this State, or with any common carrier, by which combination or contract the earnings of one doing the carrying are to be shared by the other not doing the carrying: Provided, however, that telephone companies may acquire by purchase or lease, or otherwise, and operate, parallel or competing exchanges, lines and structures, and the property of other telephone companies, if the railroad commission or such other State commission as may have jurisdiction over such matters shall first consent thereto, and if, further, each municipality wherein such property or any part thereof is located shall also first consent thereto as to the property within its limits, but under any such acquisition and operation toll line connections with the property so acquired shall be continued and maintained under an agreement between the purchasing company and the toll line companies then furnishing such service, and in the event they are unable to agree as to the terms of such an agreement the railroad commission or such other State commission as may have jurisdiction over such matters, shall fix the term of such agreement.

That this amendment shall be submitted to the voters of the State for their ratification or rejection at the time and manner provided for under Section 256 of the Constitution of Kentucky, and under Section 1459, of the edition of the Kentucky Statutes compiled and edited by John D. Carroll and issued in 1915.

The question now agitating the mind of the average Kentuckian is as to what disposition he is to make of his corn crop since its natural destiny is prohibited.

For Rent

Ninety-five acres for corn, 15 acres for tobacco. This land was in hemp and tobacco this year. Barn room and sties can also be furnished. Apply to Albert Stofer, Mt. Sterling, Ky., Phone 614 J-2. (15-3t)

Anyhow, Boston should worry. The bean crop is a record one.

It is a significant fact that close upon the heels of a third 10 per cent dividend this year, declared by one of the big sugar companies, the President took charge of that industry. Truly, "pride goeth before a fall."

SENATE BILL NO. 23

A bill, known as Senate Bill No. 23, was enacted by the last Legislature in regular session, and will be voted upon by the people at the coming November election. Its object is to permit competing telephone lines and systems to consolidate, a thing which is now forbidden by the law.

As we see it, two systems in any town or city, are nothing short of a most aggravating nuisance. If one needs telephone service, he must have both 'phones, at a double expense. As one system makes for efficient service at the minimum cost, we sincerely hope the amendment will be adopted. The subject will be submitted to the voters of the state on the right hand side of the ballot, and not under any emblem, but in the form of a question and those desiring to vote for it will vote YES.

LAND SALES IN PAST WEEK

Mrs. J. Will Clay last week purchased 100 acres of land from her brother, Mr. Walter Bridges, at a private price.

At the sale of the Mrs. C. C. Smith land, near Sharpsburg, Saturday, the 96 acres brought $280.50 per acre. This is the highest priced land sold in Bath county in many, many years and we doubt if that price was ever equalled for farming land in that county.

Mr. J. Will Clay last week purchased 90 acres of land from Mr. Jack Turner, lying in the Bunker Hill neighborhood. It is understood that the land is considered very good.

E. Shields Cunningham last week sold to Dr. A. T. Knox, of Powell county, his farm of 320 acres, at Thomson Station, for $200 an acre. Possession will be given between now and March 1. The farm is one of the best improved in Central Kentucky. Dr. Knox and his family will move there to make their future home. It is likely that Mr. Cunningham and wife will locate in Lexington.

Real estate dealers, Oldham & Frazer last week sold for Mr. Joe Henry his farm of 226½ acres in the Bunker Hill neighborhood to Mr. L. T. Wills, of Nicholas county at $125 per acre. This is an excellent farm. Mr. Wills will move there to make his home and we welcome him to our county.

AGAIN A WINNER

Mendoza T., the good race mare of Mr. J. R. Magowan, of this city, was the winner at Atlanta last week of a thousand dollar purse. The mare also secured third money in a race at that place Saturday. Mendoza T. has proven a consistent winner all during the season.

If the movie films could get those hold-ups that are being pulled off in Chicago every now and then, they would make the "wild and woolly" look like thirty cents.

A Letter From Washington

The Food Administrator Writes Us:

"The use of baking powder breads made of corn and other coarse flours instead of patent wheat flour is recommended by the Conservation Division of the Food Administration. The wheat needed for export is thus conserved, and at the same time healthful food for our own people is provided. The circulation of recipes providing for these uses would be of assistance in carrying out our plans."

The following recipes for Corn Bread and Rye Rolls save wheat flour and make attractive and wholesome food for every day when made with

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

CORN BREAD

1½ cups corn meal
½ cup flour
1 level teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons shortening
Mix thoroughly dry ingredients; add milk and melted shortening; beat well; pour into well greased pan and bake in hot oven about 25 minutes.

RYE ROLLS

3 cups rye flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 level teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
½ cup milk
½ tablespoon shortening
Sift dry ingredients together; add milk and melted shortening. Knead on floured board; shape into rolls. Put into greased pans and allow to stand in warm place 20 to 25 minutes. Bake in moderate oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Our red, white and blue booklet "Best War Time Recipes" containing additional similar recipes sent free on request. Address Royal Baking Powder Company, Dept. H, 135 William Street, New York.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR CHILD

Elizabeth Bratton, of Little Rock, Bourbon county, was struck by an automobile driven by Mr. Martin Ramey in this city last Wednesday and for a while it was thought she was seriously hurt. However, upon examination by a physician it was found that she was more scared than hurt. At the time of the accident Mr. Ramey was driving the car very slowly.

AUTO SALES

The Mt. Sterling Garage has just sold and delivered to Mr. Bruce Duff a six cylinder 5 passenger touring car and to Mr. N. H. Stone, Sharpsburg, a 3 passenger six cylinder roadster, and to Mr. Frank Lockridge a four cylinder touring car. The above cars are all Buicks of the 1918 models.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, Two telephone systems are the source of much annoyance and expense to the public and cannot render the satisfactory service possible to be rendered by one and whereas, the Legislature of Kentucky realizing that fact, and at its 1916 session, authorized a submission of a constitutional amendment to the voters of the State at the coming November election, 1917, which would permit such telephone systems to consolidate. Now, be it resolved by the Business Men's Club of Mt. Sterling, Ky., that we endorse such amendment and urge the voters of the State to vote in favor of such amendment, believing it to be beneficial to the State and that it will improve the service and reduce the cost wherever two or more systems are maintained.

AMENDMENT IS INDORSED

Frankfort State Journal Prints Strong Editorial Favoring Adoption Of Constitutional Amendment And Pointing Out Its Advantages

The strong resolutions adopted by the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce favoring the Constitutional Amendment relating to the purchase of telephone lines are meeting with favor throughout the state. Among other papers which have endorsed this action editorially is the Frankfort State Journal, which recently published the following editorial:

"Amend The Constitution
The action of the Chamber of Commerce, in pledging its efforts to the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment relating to the purchase of telephone lines, and in calling upon other commercial bodies to support it, is both wise and timely.

"Two telephone lines in the same community, each contending for subscribers, is a nuisance—an expensive nuisance—to the public, and has been too long tolerated. When the busy merchant, farmer or professional man takes up his telephone, he wants to talk and talk quickly; and to be told that the party sought has 'the other line' naturally stirs his resentment. Two exchanges in the same town mean that the business and professional man must maintain both, and this he should not be required to do.

"Telephone service should be universal among telephone users; every telephone user should be able to reach every other telephone user, over his own phone.

The present Constitution of Kentucky was written when the telephone business was in its early infancy, and in it was written that one telephone company could not acquire by lease or purchase, the lines of a competing company, with the result that in every municipality where there have existed two telephone systems, however much a Chamber of Commerce or a City Council wished to have only one, they could get rid of neither without wrecking one. Both lines were doomed to continuous existence, in spite of the fact that generally neither was prosperous, or giving to the public satisfactory service. State authorities and local councils have complete power of regulation of telephone companies.

"The General Assembly adopted the pending amendment to the Constitution, permitting one telephone company to purchase the lines of another, provided the City Council and the State authorities should approve the purchase; without that approval no purchase can be made. This amendment was passed by the House of Representatives without a dissenting vote, and by the Senate with only one negative vote. Such a vote is an indication of the widespread interest in the amendment and the demand for the relief it will bring. The public interest is fully protected.

"We cannot too highly commend the Chamber of Commerce in its efforts to secure the adoption of this amendment by the voters. The State Journal is for the amendment, and will add its efforts to those of the Chamber of Commerce to bring about the adoption.

It is a matter of keen reproach to the ranks of organized labor that strikes and disturbances of all kinds should be rife just at this time when the nation needs that we should be one as we never before have been. Doubtless there are causes aplenty for strife—in ordinary times and under ordinary conditions. At present, and under the conditions that face this country, it would seem that, while the world is called upon for sacrifices in all the relations of life, labor might consent to bear patiently a few injustices, especially if to remedy those injustices the safety of the country is to be jeopardized. Everything that takes from the perfect unity of this country, militates against the great undertaking that we have entered upon. Now, when the country needs every ounce of its strength, is a poor time to settle labor disputes, especially if the settlement involves contention and strife. If there is not sufficient patriotism and loyalty among the employers to grant merited rights, then labor should prove itself the better patriot in bearing with injustice until our country is safe from the dangers that threaten.

TO ASSIST IN WORK

At the suggestion of President Wilson the directors of the Mt. Sterling Business Men's Club have been called on to get their organization behind the campaign to raise a national fund for War Camp Community Recreation work. The purpose of this is to inspire the men, increase the efficiency and help develop the fighting spirit of the American armed forces. Features of this big work include the providing of wholesome, healthy environment in the communities surrounding the ninety or more training camps and posts.

John N. Willys, of Toledo, automobile and aeroplane manufacturer, appointed jointly by Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of the Navy Daniels as chairman of the national committee on the War Camp Community Recreation Fund, has written a letter to each of the following, asking their assistance in this vitally important war work: Dr. W. R. Thompson, C. D. Grubbs, and Jno. S. Frazer.

The public, it is pointed out, must be made to realize that they must help to win the war. The "first victories" will be won in America, and will depend on the way in which those who stay at home receive, welcome and hearten the men who are ready to bleed and die that democracy may live. The work for the soldiers and sailors in the communities outside the camps, should not be confused with what is being done for their entertainment and recreation by the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. H. A., and in other ways during their leisure hours in camp.

"Three Dollars for Each Soldier and Sailor" is the amount required to carry on the work for the next year. This money will be used in a hundred ways, such as building and maintaining clubs for the men, arranging dramatic, moving-picture, musical and numerous other forms of entertainment in auditoriums, clubs, schools, churches and private homes; in short, to see to it that the community around the camp is as "near like home" to the men as possible.

At Last—A One-Adjustment Cream Separator

BEFORE you buy any cream separator, come in and look at the Primrose. One adjustment is all that is necessary to keep it in perfect operating condition at all times. This adjustment is a simple one for keeping the bowl at the correct height—an adjustment that you or your wife can safely make, whenever it's necessary.

The adjustment is made from the outside of the separator by either raising or lowering the bearing containing the hardened steel point, upon which the spindle revolves. A slight turn with a screwdriver, perhaps once a year, does the work.

The Primrose is a well-constructed, close-skimming, durable cream separator. It will make a saving of $10.00 to $15.00 per cow in your herd every year. It is made in four sizes to separate 350 to 850 pounds of milk per hour, or from about 40 to 98 gallons. Ask for a catalogue giving a complete description, or, come in and look over the Primrose yourself.

THE BEAUTIFUL GULF COAST

The beautiful thing about the Gulf Coast, between New Orleans and Pensacola is that it is a real playground, summer or winter—a playground for Northern folk from November to May, and for Southerners during the summer months. You can't ask for much more of placid nature than has been expended on the gulf littoral between New Orleans and Pensacola. There are pine woods, forests of live oaks, all moss hung and mysterious, long stretches of winding, shaded roads, woodland paths, quaint southern hamlets and modern resorts teeming with gaiety and active life; lovely retreats where you can swing in a hammock all day and drowse in the narcotic air. And there is the sparkling water, the beach, the surf, boating, fishing—anything and everything that calls from the salt waterside.

Going South on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, after you leave Mobile, it is impossible to escape the infection of joyous living, even if you wanted to do that. At every stop throughs of people are going and coming—youth and age alike, getting on or off the trains. Laughter and breezy, sunny, fragrant air greet you. It is moreover a place of sane, natural outdoor joys in surroundings of homely comfort or of luxurious ease, whichever you prefer. It is a locality of ancient and honorable traditions and the natives are descended from holders of the soil since the first days of the white settler. They make you welcome with a stately, southern hospitality, and have put at your disposal the best their home land affords. Every resort and every old plantation home is shaded by age-old ancestral oaks and grown over with trailing vines, roses and peonies; and they all look out over the gulf waters, at the dancing waves, the scudding sails, the beach and the surf. If you can't find happiness down there in the golden sunshine and among the countless diversions and attractions of that playground, don't go south in the winter expecting to find your "Promised Land," for you'll have only your trouble for your pains. No choler spot exists and greater comfort is not to be found. The winter climate is ideal, not uncomfortably warm, but moderate and bracing, putting snap and ginger into the system.

Touring along the Gulf Coast is one of the ways travelers take to find their own particular choice—and for this purpose the train service of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad is convenient. You can stop everywhere, beginning at Mobile, and stay a few hours, a few days or as long as you wish. It is a fascinating vagabondage that will bring you eventually to the place of your ultimate desire. You can, also, if you choose, ship your motor car to Mobile and go in for regular touring along the gulf—the roads are all good and the country is fascinating in the extreme. History lends its background of fact to a long list of interesting tradition and romantic legends concerning this locality, and the "atmosphere" while wholly American, has the foreign flavor in sufficient degree to give it diversity and variety. Topographically, the coast lies low and curving, rising gently toward the hinterland, which is forested with pines, broken in the clearings, by rich and productive farmlands. The shore line is much indented, the numerous bays, "bayous," "sounds" and lakes giving a seemingly endless and all-surrounding waterway. Lying off the shore is a line of islands, forming the outer bulwark of Mississippi Sound, and fronting this are the resorts that have been famous since pre-revolutionary days—the towns which began as of the French colonies began under the brothers de Bienville and d'Iberville.

THE NEGRO IN THE NORTH

The writer of this article lays claim to Northern extraction and Southern experience, hence claims competence and a disinterested judgment in dealing with this vexed American problem.

We wish first to state that the Negro is out of his element among Northern people, because the Northern people do not understand the Negro nature. The North has always had a sentimental interest in the Negro, not a practical one. He has been more an object of charitable experimenting than of practical dealings as between man and man. In spite of a seeming equality, both industrially and socially, the Negro has never really assimilated with the Northern people. In limited numbers he has been tolerated, and even occasionally welcomed; but as soon as the numbers increased to the point of competition with his white brother, all interest in his welfare has ceased, except, as we have stated, among the speculative philanthropists.

And it is perfectly natural that the North should fail to understand the Negro nature. The Northern white man takes large stock in such virtues as efficiency, thoroughness, etc. To these must be added a sense of fair play and equity. These account in large measure for the strong union sentiment among the workers of the North.

Now all of these qualities are pure Greek to the average Negro. He has, it is true, a certain pride in efficiency and thoroughness, a certain sense of fair play and equity; but these are as different to those of the white man as moonlight is to sunlight. In spite of his late bitter experience, the Negro has never yet been able to see why he was not accepted as a man and a brother by the people of the North, who for fifty years had professed to be his warm friends.

The difference between the Northern and Southern attitudes on this question lies entirely in the point of view. The Northerner has persisted in regarding the Negro as a fellow man who is entitled to the same consideration as himself. The only trouble with this view is that it was a distant view, and not a view at close quarters. The Southerner, on the contrary, knows him to be in the nature of a younger and weaker brother, who must not only be advised and counseled, but if necessary restrained and controlled.

The late labor disputes in the North in which the Negro played such a lamentable part, serve to portray the Negro character as nothing else has or can. White men placed in the Negroes' position in these cases would easily have avoided friction. That the Negro suffered was due not to the wrong attitude of his opponents, but to his own utter ignorance of the principles involved in his conduct. All to this the white man's ignorance of the Negro nature, and the only surprise is that matters were not more serious than they were.

With all his two centuries of civilization, the Negro, excepting in rare instances, is still a child in the school of civilized life. Like the normal child, his wants loom large on his mental vision, and like the child, also, he can see no reason, when the opportunity presents itself for gratifying those wants, why he should not do so.

Now that the Negro is coming into competition with Northern labor, it will be well for the Northern people to gain a more correct knowledge of the Negro nature. The men who deliberately throw masses of Negroes in competition with white laborers are netting with an utter disregard for the interests of both these classes of labor. Neither now understands the other. Given time and opportunity to harmonize their views and arrive at a clear understanding of the rights of each, their relations will be as pleasant as they are and always have been in the South, where each class knows and thoroughly appreciates the good qualities of the other.

THE BEAUTIFUL GULF COAST

MOBILE, ALABAMA

"Mother of Mystics"

So! "Here we Rest," according to the meaning of the word "Alabama." We are at a terminal of a delightful trip on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

The early explorers did well when they founded the French colonies, which were begun under the brothers de Blenville and d'Iberville.

Mobile lies at the mouth of the Mobile River, which is formed by the junction of the Alabama and Tombigbee rivers. Many products of the interior come down these rivers; cotton and lumber in large quantities is seen, and coal from further north.

Mobile harbor affords accommodation at her wharfs for both commercial and tourist traffic. The city of Mobile is some thirty miles from the Gulf of Mexico and it is a delightful sail up the broad winding entrance to this city—Mobile—which has a population of 75,000 souls.

From the water's edge there is a gradual rise of the land which leads to attractive hills and ravines, upon which are located beautiful southern homes—old and new—and the shell roads are a boon to the automobilist.

There are few cities in the world which possess so many beautiful streets that might be termed boulevards. Some of them resemble small portions of Paris, France or Brussels, Belgium—as it was before the present devastation from the European War.

These streets in Mobile are lined with some Monarchs of a century of nature's production—the grand old elms and water oaks, and not a few are embellished by the hoary gray hanging moss that sways with the passing breezes. Government street is the most imposing, and branching from it are many attractive park-like streets—made beautiful through the care of up-to-date civic co-operation.

There can scarcely be found a drive more beautiful—by nature's own painting—than along Mobile Bay, by sunset in the summer time, or at autumn it is one never to be forgotten.

Mobile is a city of education culture and perhaps interesting conservation, yet it is a city of true hospitality, with a touch of what remains of the old regime of French, English, and Spanish. It is a city that has been "under five flags," and many of its people bear the distinctive features of their ancestors, in its many fine looking and even beautiful women, and courteous "old school" men.

Mobile is fast becoming an all-year-round resort, with fine hotels, and all centering around its historic and beautiful Blenville Square.

Mobile is often called "The Mother of Mystics," because she was the first to originate the "Mardi Gras," and she yearly still calls thousands to herself at that festival time.

Those desiring out-door recreation will find it in and around Mobile, in abundance. Small steamers ply between her suburban health resorts, beautiful Fairhope, Battles Wharf, Point Clear, Magnolia Springs and other attractive spots; which are made more beautiful by nature's hand, and where health-giving ozone is freely given from the Gulf of Mexico.

In addition, Mobile has excellent golf links, a fine Country Club, plenty of good fishing, and automobilizing over roads that cannot be surpassed.

Old Mobile is unlike any other city on the Gulf. She has her own attractions, as well as those of her surroundings. A few weeks' stay there and mingling with her people cannot be but well spent. She is also a city of Clubs, and genuine hospitality. A Tourist Welcome Club, among others, heartily welcomes all visitors to this city of de Blenville and d'Iberville.—Carlyle Porter.

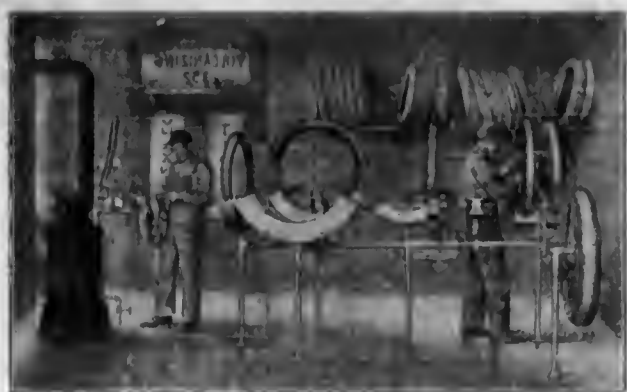

Mobile is located in the beautiful Gulf Coast region and is conveniently reached from the north by the superb steel passenger trains of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

STENOGRAPHERS ARE NEEDED

Now that Uncle Sam has the young men of the country in training for military service, he finds that he needs 10,000 typewriter operators and stenographers and typewriters, both men and women, for the Departments at Washington. The Civil Service Commission has notified all of its 3,000 boards of examiners, that they should put forth their best efforts to secure these urgently needed workers. While examinations are now held weekly in 450 cities, the Commission states that arrangements will be made to have an examination held at any accessible place where a small class of applicants can be secured. The entrance salaries range from $1,000 to $1,200 a year. Promotion is reasonably rapid to those whose services prove satisfactory. No appointments can be made to these or other positions in the Federal classified civil service unless authorized by the Civil Service Commission under the civil service law. Any information to the contrary is unauthorized. This is a splendid opportunity to serve your country. Full information may be secured from the secretary of the board of civil service examiners at the postoffice in this city.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-draught. Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theodor's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit. If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theodor's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theodor's the original and genuine. B 72

OCTOBER 24 IS SET ASIDE AS "LIBERTY DAY"

President Wilson in behalf of the Liberty Loan has issued a proclamation setting aside October 24 as Liberty Day and urging the people of the nation to assemble on that day in their respective communities and "pledge to one another and the government that represents them, the fullest measure of financial support."

"Let the result be so impressive and emphatic," the President urges, "that it will go throughout the empire of our enemy as an index of what America intends to do to bring this war to a victorious conclusion."

An appeal to the wage earners of the United States to invest in bonds was issued by Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor. He said:

"The workers have more at stake in this conflict than any others, because it is only in a democracy that the common people can come into their own. The great privilege is not given to all of us to serve our country on the battlefields or in the trenches, but there are other ways in which we can serve and assist those who are privileged to carry our flag on the battlefields of Europe."

"The impulse of sacrifice for the common good is sending the youth of our country into the trenches in defense of liberty, humanity and democracy. To those of us who must of necessity remain at home, to till the soil, harvest the crops, man the factories, mines and mills, the way is open for additional service. We, too, must make sacrifices. The men who go forth to do battle in the field must be equipped and sustained. Funds must be forthcoming to furnish the food, the firearms and other supplies for the fighting forces of the nation. Finances for that purpose must be secured immediately by the sale of bonds. The workers can help by contributing their mite."

Official reports of the subscription up to the close of business Saturday night, sent by 11 of the 12 reserve banks, show but little progress, the total standing at $339,654,900, or only about eight per cent. of the $5,000,000,000 hoped for.

The proposal that the government take 65 per cent. of all incomes over $1,000,000 hasn't produced a ripple of excitement in this office.

Along about the time the women finish canning food stuffs, the men will be preparing to can some politicians.

URGES THE ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT

At a recent meeting of the Bowling Green Chamber of Commerce strong resolutions were adopted endorsing the Constitutional amendment, authorizing telephone companies to purchase competing lines. A committee was also appointed to devise ways and means to bring the matter to the attention of the voters of the state.

The resolutions follow: "Whereas, there will be submitted to the voters at the regular November Election, 1917, a constitutional amendment authorizing a telephone company to purchase the lines and equipment of other companies serving the same locality, by and with the approval of the government bodies of the cities served and of the state authorities.

"Be it resolved, That the Bowling Green and Warren County Chamber of Commerce heartily recommends the adoption of said amendment and urges the voters everywhere in the state not to fail to vote for same.

"Resolved, That the President of the Chamber of Commerce is authorized and requested to appoint a committee to devise ways and means of bringing to the attention of the voters the advantages that will accrue from the adoption of said amendment."

President J. Mott Williams appointed the following committee:

NEWS FROM THE FRONT

picture seems to float away ever and ever growing smaller but more beautiful as your field of vision increases. At first one flies at about the height of a thousand feet. You can never know how pretty this old world is until you see it from a plane.

"As you doubtless know, even better than I, Tours is in Touraine, and Touraine is the land of castles, chateaux, cathedrals and old ruins. I have seen quite a few old Roman ruins, a tower built by Charlemagne, a cathedral started some nine hundred years ago and finished two hundred years ago, chateaux that would cover acres and acres. I have seen these both from the air and land and the views from the air are far the prettier.

"To describe flying I cannot. The propeller turns, you bank your planes, turn either the nose or tail up or down and sit there. Apparently you seem stationary and it is the earth that is moving by. No sense of fear comes to you, if anything I feel safer than I do when on earth. Being detached from the earth causes no sense of dizziness as when on a high building, and no inclination to jump. Just wait until you can go up in one and you will say that driving an automobile is nothing compared to this.

"Truly to a knight of old I must compare myself who went to battle on some great field, only so different for this is the twentieth century. One realizes this when he sees Touraine, the land of many of France's greatest artists. To see the glory of the setting sun, colors and shades innumerable and unnamed that pile themselves chameleon-like into great chateaux, is worth the dangers of a thousand shells. Imagine the most beautiful sunset you ever saw, roads straight as an arrow with long lines of trees on each side, bunches of shrubbery in low lying fields free from fences, and here and there a grain stubble. Then put into one of these fields several old ladies picking up straws and putting them on a great sheet. Some have on the lace caps peculiar to this department, others have broad coarse woven straw ones. Then in another field imagine these old ladies bent by years of this to an angle of forty-five degrees strolling homeward, sheets of straw over their shoulders slung against the sunset and there you have Millet as he painted these scenes. Only he could make you see them in his pictures and with my words I cannot.

"Now take all this that I have written about the sunset, women and fields, and put in a pasture nearby a group of men in the weirdest togs imaginable, watching planes landing, some just going up, and others resting lightly like some huge birds on the ground, and you have arrived at the twentieth century. Your picture then becomes an aviation field for training pilots for fighting planes, in order that the enemy may be kept where he belongs. A few old women are going home. Your sunset is the wrath of God because you cannot fly into it, or with it directly. In your eyes you must go around and trust in our plane is in your path to be the second member of a smash-up and an incidental "toute de suite" departure for the earth. So really the medieval knight has nothing on the fighter of today.

"All this that I have written is the pretty part of what I have gone into, the outside. I am a soldier in training to fight the fight, to fight a good fight, and in so doing serve my country. I cannot think of death as near or as connected with my work. I cannot become nervous or worried; fear can knock at the door, but must never enter. Luck also plays no part in our game, you are either a good pilot or a bad. So after this letter I write always of the pleasant side of our life in the air and camp, and tell of the funny things that happen, do not think that I am not taking my duty seriously or playing safe. I shall come out of this, but I shall also come out older by years than when I went in. The young men are in the training camps, the pilots though young are men older by far than their years.

"I must go to sleep now or I will be having the pilot doing a fit with my flying this afternoon. My glove dropped off this morning and I made a plunge sideways after it with my hand. The machine did something and the air in front was blue. I was called everything in the zoo and out, so I must redeem myself this afternoon.

"Good luck and don't forget to write me all about what you do, have done and are going to do.

DUTIES VERSUS PRIVILEGES

When the present conflict burst upon the world, humanity—democratic humanity—was asleep. It was a sleep that had lasted since Washington and his ragamuffin army had first "made the world safe for democracy." His work had been done, and well done, and Americans had for more than a century been living under the delusion that there was nothing more to do in the cause of human freedom.

From the establishment of this republic, orators and writers have never tired of ringing the changes on the glorious privileges of American citizenship. They are instilled into us from the kindergarten to the college. They are the daily pulchrum upon which our Americanism is nourished.

The world enticement found us making a fetish of our "rights" and "privileges." We were extremely jealous of them, and resented any infringement of them with the fierceness of a brooding hen. We were proud of them, and flattered them in the face of our less fortunate neighbors across the water.

But one thing we had forgotten, namely, that SOMEONE had paid a price for these priceless blessings of liberty; somebody had purchased them, and we were not that somebody of somebodies. They had been purchased by BLOOD, but as WE had not shed that blood, we had never fully appreciated the value of the purchase.

And we are only just beginning to grasp the fact that our revolutionary sires, when they had marched through blood to the goal of their inspiration, bequeathed to us, their descendants, not only the glorious blessing of liberty, but by the side of it and hand in hand with it, THE DUTY OF PRESERVING IT IN ITS PURITY AS RECEIVED.

That duty has never been lifted from our shoulders, and never will be, unless we shall so far fall short as to cease to value the fruits of the sacrifices so cheerfully made by those old heroes of the long ago.

This duty is looming larger and larger, clearer and clearer, as the days go by. We are beginning to recognize the eternal truth that if ALL would enjoy, ALL must serve. You and I—should either be favored at the expense of the other? Your boy and my boy—have not both been the recipients of the same protection and fostering care, and shall my son refuse to make the sacrifice while your son bares his breast to the storm?

There is a theory that gold, that most precious of metals, was at one time deep in the center of this globe, but that the violent internal convulsions to which the old ball has been subjected have thrown it to the surface. If the present social convulsion shall be the means of bringing to the surface of human character the pure gold of sacrifice and an appreciation of the duty of the individual to society, great good will come of the trials we are called upon to endure.

LIBERTY BONDS AS CHRISTMAS GIFTS

The sale of the Second Liberty Loan Bond issue at this time has been hailed in many quarters as being particularly timely. This applies especially to people who are anxious to make Christmas gifts of unusual value, because they will be able, by making small payments from time to time, to acquire Liberty Bonds before the arrival of the holiday season.

Brokers in New York are calling the attention of their clients to this opportunity. Many of their customers annually buy stocks or bonds for relatives, and this year all will be urged to buy Liberty Bonds of the later issue. By subscribing now they will be aiding the government to make a quick and splendid success of the loan. Most banks are willing to receive small deposits weekly in order to enable buyers of the bonds to pay for them in full by Christmas.

By Midnight Wednesday Sept. 12th

Up to midnight, September 12th, during a period of 8½ months, we sold and delivered to tire dealers more United States Tires than we sold to dealers during the entire 12 months of 1916.

This phenomenal sales increase was made notwithstanding our epoch-making sales increases of 1916 over 1915.

These record-breaking sales increases of 1917 over 1916 and our record-breaking sales increases of 1916 over 1915 definitely and finally prove three facts:

1. The supremacy of United States Tires.
2. The fact that the vast army of automobile owners who used United States Tires in 1916 are using them in 1917 on the sheer merit of their experience.
3. The fact that another vast army of automobile owners have been won over to the use of United States Tires in 1917 on the sheer superiority of our tires over other tires that they have tried.

AMERICAN BOAT SUNK

Survivors of the United States transport Antilles, which was sunk by a German submarine last week while being convoyed on her homeward trip by American warships, were landed in France by auxiliary vessels and are being cared for by the American Consulate. Some of the men have been lodged in hotels and a few have left for Paris.

The torpedo struck the ship at a quarter to 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. Many of those on board were killed in their berths and others while dressing. The explosion killed the engineers, oilers and mechanics and those of the crew who were in the bunks below.

All the survivors praise the captain of the Antilles and the members of the gun crew, who stuck to their posts while the officers searched with field glasses for the submarine until the waves closed over the ship.

When the Antilles sank forty or fifty men were at the stern. Most of them leaped fifty feet or more into the sea as the stern rose to a perpendicular position and some were drawn down by the suction of the sinking vessel.

The submarine was not sighted either before or after the explosion. The sea was running high at the time, making it difficult to save the crew and passengers. Some survivors, clinging to debris, were in the water an hour before they were sighted by the lifeboats.

More than sixty men lost their lives when the vessel sank.

The many friends of Mr. Carroll Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jones, will be glad to learn that he has been promoted to Sergeant-Major. Mr. Jones was one of our young men in the first draft and is now stationed at Camp Taylor. This is indeed a compliment to Mr. Jones, the promotion having come so soon after being drafted and it being the highest non-commissioned office in a battalion.

Buy a Pedigreed Boar

High priced feeds demand a pedigree animal, the most efficient hog to convert these raw materials into pork. The pedigree animal is one that has been carefully selected for generations through a known line of ancestry possessing economical production. An animal inherits its 50 per cent from both the sire and dam, 25 per cent from his four grand parents, 12½ from his eight great grand parents, etc. An animal without a pedigree is uncertain as a sire for nothing is known of his ancestry. With the advancing price in feeds, farmers should be more careful in the selection of animals to consume them. For the sake of efficiency kill the scrub sire.
